

HOW THE COMPETITION WORKS

Following is the link for the form: <https://tothelimitmaths.org/2022ContestForm>

This form will open automatically when the contest window starts, and close automatically when the contest window ends. When the form link is clicked, follow the onscreen instructions to open the form (only email is needed). When the form is opened, a 2 hour period will start — the form will close after around 2 hours and 10 minutes, allowing for a 10 minute buffer period to submit answers and figure any complications out, if necessary.

Once the form opens, the first page will have the link to the pdf of the contest, as well as the password to unlock the pdf. The first page will also prompt you to enter your name, and fill out an honor code.

The second page is the place to submit your answers. Enter all answers to all problems in their respective place (an integer between 000-999), and we will not penalize wrong/blank answers (however, the right answer must be typed as an integer between 000-999).

The form can either be submitted early, or will auto submit once the time runs out.

RULES

The rules are as follows: <https://tothelimitmaths.org/competitions/rules.pdf>

BE SURE TO READ THIS BEFORE THE COMPETITION!!! Time is not, and will not be allotted inside the contest to read the rules.

AFTER THE COMPETITION

Take a breather! The competition will be manually graded, and this should take around a week, or two. We'll keep everyone updated on prizes, and your score will be personally emailed to you afterwards! Congrats!
